IN THE COCKPIT

One summer, when Bob was six, his family went on a trip.

“Will we take a car?” Bob asked.

“No, it is too far. We will take a plane,” said his mother.

“Yay!” Bob said. He was happy.

The plane was very big. “This is fun! A plane is better than a car,” Bob said. He got to watch a funny movie. Everyone on the plane laughed. Then they brought food, and Bob ate up every bite. He even got to visit the cockpit, where the pilot sits.

The pilot showed Bob all the controls. It was very interesting. Then Bob had to go, because the pilot had to land the plane.

“Would you like to be a pilot when you grow up, Bob?” asked the pilot.

“Yes! Very much!” said Bob.
